Historical Background

The Worcester Lunch Car and Carriage Manufacturing Company was founded by Philip H. Duprey and Irving M. Stoddard in 1906. They bought out the lunch car building business organized by Wilfred H. Barriere and Stearns A. Haynes the previous year. The company built a total of 651 diners during its 55 years in business, beginning with serial number 200 through serial Number 851. The serial number assigned at the time of construction stayed with the diner throughout its life, including any subsequent remodeling or rebuilding. Worcester Lunch Car diners were well known for the high quality of the work, and handcrafted wooden elements. The diners were noteworthy because of the monitor roof with clerestory windows to allow ventilation of cooking odors. Many of the diners were decorated with porcelain enamel graphics. Worcester Lunch Car diners were marketed throughout New England, and were found in each of the region's states. The company ceased operations May 23, 1961.

Scope and Content

The collection illustrates the development of the Worcester Lunch Car Company through employee records, records of design and construction of many of its diners, and lists of diners constructed, their owners and locations.

Employees' time and wage record books are nearly complete from 1911 to 1950, indicating names of employees, hours worked and pay per week for the 40 year period. Plans in the form of blueprints, sketch drafts, and cost estimates and analyses, along with catalogs and material samples provide insight into the process of building a diner, from initial planning to completion with attendant decorative detail and equipment and supplies. Completed diners (of the serial numbers 700-799) are listed on catalog cards, with various details concerning the owners, location, and other information. Postcards illustrate diners in their business environment.

The collection dates range from ca. 1910 to ca. 1960, with the bulk of the material from the 1940s and 1950s.
