Historical/Biographical Notes

George F. Wright Steel & Wire Co. was established in 1883 in Palmer, Mass. as the Palmer Wire Cloth Co. The company moved to Worcester in 1889, with a facility on Hammond Street, and produced wire cloth and related products under the name Wright Wire Cloth Co. Samuel Colton was admitted as partner in 1892, and the company name changed to Wright & Colton Wire Co. Following Colton's retirement in 1902, the name changed to Wright Wire Co. The name was changed a final time in the early 1920s to George F. Wright Steel & Wire Co. Throughout its history the company has been in the forefront in the development and manufacture of wire cloth, wire netting, wire fencing, and related products of woven wire.

Scope and Content

The Wright Wire Company Collection is comprised of a company history, written in 1980s; 1917 yearbook of the company; and catalogs of company products, ca. 1890-1920; stock certificate books, 1896 and 1903; correspondence, 1914-1919; other business records, 1885-1909.

The collection provides a comprehensive picture of the company during its first three decades, and provides insight into the activities of the company officials during the formative years.
