Biographical Information

Alexander H. Johnson was born in New Bedford, Massachusetts about 1847, said to be the son of a Narragansett Indian father and mother, and descendant of King Philip. He was raised by a black family in New Bedford. His adoptive father was William Henry Johnson, a prominent attorney in New Bedford.

Johnson enlisted at age 14 in the United States Navy as drummer boy prior to the outbreak of hostilities in the Civil War, and served aboard the frigate Sabine for about eight months. He then enlisted in the 54th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers in March, 1862, and served as musician throughout the hostilities. He was mustered out August 20, 1865.

Johnson lived in Worcester for the rest of his life, and was active as a musician and promoter of drumming. He was a member and active in the affairs of Col. George H. Ward Post, No. 10, G.A.R. in Worcester, in which he held the rank of Major.

Johnson died in 1930 at the age of 83.

Scope and Content

The collection consists of photocopies of clippings and documents relative to the ancestry of Alexander Howard Johnson, with emphasis on his native American ancestry. It also includes information about the life and ancestry of William Henry Johnson, prominent black attorney in New Bedford who was adoptive father to Alexander Howard Johnson. Clippings span the period from 1897 to 1997.

Collection is arranged topically, and described to item level.
